

RESOLVING AN UN-CODED ADDRESS

Abstract of the Disclosure

Resolving an un-coded address may comprise saving a resolved address. The address may be resolved by at least one of a plurality of address resolution processes. The resolved address may include a correct address record and an incorrect address record. Next, resolving an un-coded address may comprise receiving a first unresolved address and then determining if the first unresolved address matches the incorrect address record of the resolved address. Then resolving an un-coded address may comprise providing the correct address record if the first unresolved address matches the incorrect address record.